

This winter, let's make sure
no one goes without a new, dry pair of socks.

Sox in the City

Warm, dry feet are a must

as wet winter weather arrives again in Vancouver.

Many people in the Downtown Eastside and in other communities live without access to basic amenities and suffer from foot infections caused by ill-fitting shoes, no socks and walking for miles each day as their only means of getting around. Many of these people also have diseases which complicate their foot problems - problems that could often be prevented by having new, dry socks.
